

February: 11

Ten Plagues

Scripture to read: Exodus 7,8 chapter

The Lord strengthened Moses and told him to; tell everything that the Lord commanded him. The first Plague, Aaron raised his staff and struck the water of the Nile. Suddenly, the whole river turned to blood! The fish in the river died, and the water became foul. The Second plague, frogs across the entire land. They came up out of the river and into the palace, even into their bedroom and on the bed! The fourth plague, dust turned into swarms of gnats throughout the land of Egypt.' The fifth plague, a fatal pestilence that killed most of the domestic animals of the Egyptians. The Sixth plague boils burst forth upon man and beast throughout the land of Egypt. The seventh plague, a hail-storm of unprecedented violence swept the land; no living thing, no tree, and no herb was to escape its fury unhurt; the eighth plague, an east wind brought swarms of locusts into Egypt, covering the sun, and devouring everything green that had escaped the hail. The ninth plague, all of Egypt was enveloped in a thick and impenetrable veil of darkness for three days, which extinguished all lights kindled. The Egyptians were gripped with fear, and remained glued to their places wherever they stood or sat. The tenth plague, the death of the firstborn sons of every family in Egypt, from the oldest son of Pharaoh, to the oldest son of his lowliest servant girl who grinds the flour.

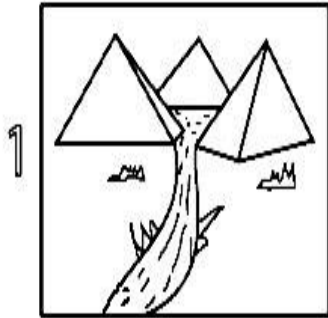

What children, are you dumbfounded...? Because Pharaoh was a king and had many Gods and magicians he neglected the request of Moses. He underestimated the people of Israel and the living God. Unable to tolerate further after the ten plagues, he agreed to send the people. But none of these plagues ever touched the people of Israelites. My dear children, let's not be like pharaoh but let's do the things of God according to the way he has commanded us. Pharaoh, who decreed an order to throw all the Hebrew boys into the river of Nile, finally would have understood the pain by losing his own son. We all are the children of a righteous God. Vengeance belongs to the Lord. When others work against us, let's forgive them.

For the righteous Lord loves justice. The virtuous will see his face. Psalms 11:07

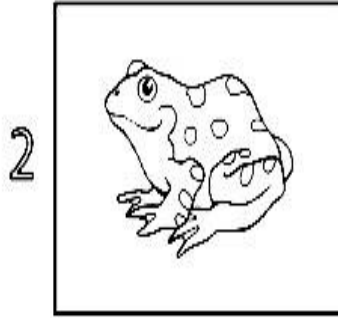

Prayer:

Righteous Father, please forgive our sins and shortcomings. We will forgive others of their sins, as you forgave us of our sins. Amen

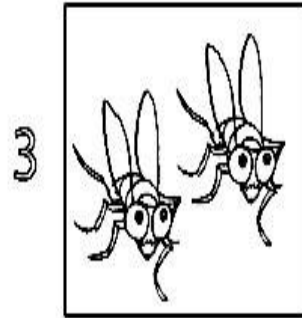

Ten Plagues

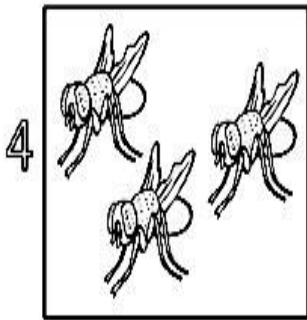

Water to blood

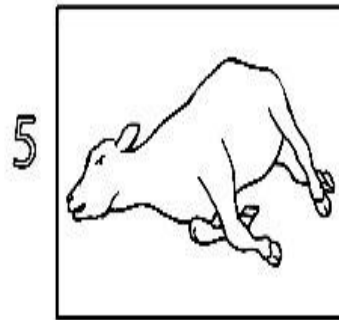

Frogs

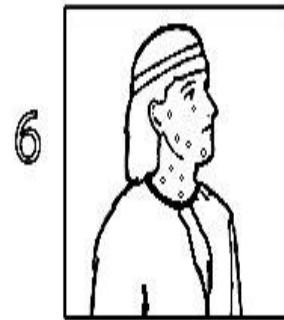

Gnats or Lice

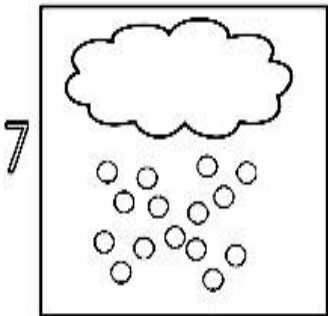

Flies

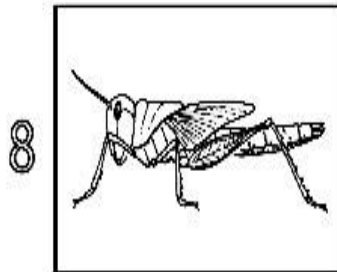

Animals sick Die

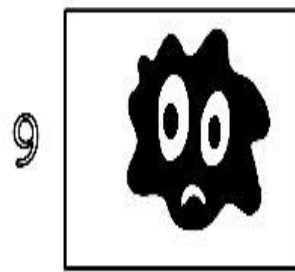

Boils

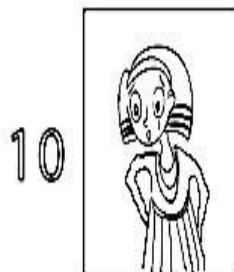

Hail

Locusts

Drakness

Fristbron boys die